THE INITIAL SPACE

Originally built in the 1950s, Uvalde Memorial Hospital had grown into a critical access facility serving Uvalde and four surrounding counties. An entirely new 170,000 square-foot hospital was built across from the old building, complete with multiple waiting rooms, patient-focused exam rooms and floor-to-ceiling windows with stunning views of the Texas Hill Country. McCoy Rockford's challenge was to develop a complete furniture package to create a functional space that felt both fresh and timeless.

THE CONSULTATION

Acting as furniture consultants, McCoy Rockford met with every department to assess the strengths and weaknesses of their spaces within the existing hospital — from cubicles and offices, to procedure rooms and patient rooms, to the cafeteria and chapel. After programming the hospital, we provided product options and typicals, then helped the client evaluate which products best suited the needs of patients, caregivers and staff. By performing fit tests, McCoy Rockford was able to help the client confirm that their selections worked harmoniously with the medical equipment these spaces required.

“We functioned as full-service furniture consultants, specifiers and installers, working with the hospital’s architectural firm to understand what built-ins already existed and what additional furnishings were required.”
